

April 30, 2007

ANDREW B. ROBINS INDUCTED INTO NJBA ASSOCIATE HALL OF FAME

MIDDLETOWN, NJ – Andrew B. Robins of Ocean Township, an officer and shareholder at the law firm of Giordano Halleran & Ciesla, was inducted into the New Jersey Builders Association's (NJBA) Associate Hall of Fame at the NJBA Industry Awards luncheon held during the Atlantic Builder's Convention in Atlantic City on April 19, 2007. The Associate Hall of Fame Award recognizes associate members for their sustained, dedicated quality service to the association and community.

Robins, a member of the firm's Environmental Practice Area, focuses on resolving issues relating to environmental issues including: regulatory compliance, cost recovery litigation and transaction negotiation and risk analysis. His background includes a wide variety of environmental and brownfield redevelopment matters. Robins is a frequent lecturer and author of articles and treatise sections in his practice area. He received his law degree from Rutgers University School of Law, Newark, and his bachelors degree from the University of Pennsylvania.

###